XProgram Project Icebreaker

Title: Alpha Lambda and Schools for Africa

Summary:

Program:

Debi Gray, Alpha Lambda, has traveled to Africa twice with her church and gave us some insights about life and schools in Zambia. She modeled a chitenge, an African garment similar to a sarong. The Schools for Africa Project and the Maanza a Leeza project at the Methodist church provide support by building separate restrooms for girls, teacher training, desks, school supplies, and fresh water.

Two videos filmed by DKG and UNICEF were shown to emphasis the needs for children in Africa. One of the highlights showed students receiving desks so they would not have to sit on the floor for instruction.

(The area 9 director, Deborah McDurmon, attended this meeting and made a point to tell me how much she learned from the program.)
